ELC Café: "Gender in the Early Years"

What can you do to ensure all our children are free to be themselves?

ELC Café

Gender in the Early Years

Friday, June 8, 2018
10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
Early Learning Coalition of Miami-Dade/Monroe
2555 Ponce De Leon, Suite 500
Coral Gables, FL 33134

Children as young as three years old begin to develop ideas about gender. These ideas impact how children treat each other, as well as what they choose to play, wear, and do—all as they develop their own gender identity and expression. Despite all the gender development that occurs from birth to five, the conversation around gender doesn't typically happen until a child reaches middle school or beyond.

Join the ELC as we listen and learn from a panel of medical and nonprofit experts and from community and family members about how to create a gender-equitable environment, so that every child can learn, grow, and be their authentic selves. Participation from YES Institute, Nicklaus Children's Hospital, SunServe, and the Miami-Dade Public Library System. Continental breakfast included.
